acolyte

Greek akolouthos: a follower, an attendant

You might have recently seen that besides Deacons, Sacristans and Altar Servers, there is an additional server ministering at Masses at St. Peter's. You may have also heard the word Acolyte describing the ministry. An acolyte is a theologically trained man, who have been admitted to the ministry at the altar by a bishop. The main responsibilities of an acolyte are to prepare wine and water for the sacrifice of the Mass, he is to distribute the Eucharist as an Extraordinary Minister, to purify the sacred vessels, but also to light the candles at the altar, to carry them in procession, and during the solemn singing of the Gospel, and to assist the ordained ministers at the Mass, and other public services of the Church.

We welcome Joseph Williams
to the ministry of the Acolyte in our parish.

Thank You

GOD BLESS YOU!

Thank you Dan Stoffler for 20 years of music ministry at St. Peter. Through the sharing of your amazing talent you have led us deeper into prayer and worship.

We wish you the best ! God bless you!

Fr. Tomasz's Weekly Reflection

Many times in my life, especially when struggling with my own faith, I have called to God and requested Him to speak to me personally, thinking: "If only He spoke to me, everything would have changed, I would have been a better person, I wouldn't have any doubts, I would love more." But then I remembered that He has already extended His Word to me, He has sent His Son, we have His words recorded and passed on from generation to generation, and yet, I didn't change, I'm still not doing good He wants me to, I still doubt, I still don't love enough. Although He has spoken, despite such a clear message He has left us, we have not heard it. Nothing reaches the deaf man's ear.

Similarly, nothing reached the evangelical rich man during his earthly life. He didn't see that "lying at his door was a poor man named Lazarus, covered with sores." He didn't see a man lying at his door... This story of Jesus touches upon an important problem: our eternal life is a consequence of our earthly choices. An excellent summary of this truth is contained in the old Latin saying: faber est quisque suae fortunae (each man is the maker of his own fortune), which teaches us that our life depends on the way we work on it.

It is worth considering what the sin of a rich man was all about? It is not enough to say that he was a sinner, because Jesus says nothing about it. Nor does he mention that the rich man physically tormented Lazarus, that he teased him, mocked him, that he insulted him. None of these things. The rich man did not see Lazarus, because before his eyes was a screen of wealth that made him blind, insensitive and indifferent to the fate of the needy. It was only in the abyss that "he raised his eyes and saw Abraham far off and Lazarus at his side." It was there that he "raised his eyes", "saw", but this time "far off". And it was far too late for that.

It was suffering that reminded the rich man of his five brothers who were still feasting and having fun. However, the answer he hears is: "impossible". Even if you send them the ghost of the dead, it won't help. And at this point: Abraham says, "They have Moses and the prophets. Let them listen to them." They simply have the word of God - everything is contained in it. The posthumous fate of the rich man and Lazarus is not some revenge or God's punishment, but a natural consequence of the style and direction of life. Anyone who has invested only in temporality and material goods must be content with what they offer, namely temporality and mortality. On the other hand, whoever could not rely solely on himself and his possessions learned to rely on God and thus invested in eternal life.

Jesus reminds us that we must constantly have our eyes open. Not only to our brothers' needs and suffering, but also to see where our current actions are leading us to.

Bible Study

Aging is one of the key issues explored in this study, but people of any age who are willing to reflect on the aging process will find the study helpful and enlightening. It was written by a senior Sister Macrina Scott, foundress of the Catholic Biblical School and focuses not on academic study but practical applications of specific Old Testament stories to the events of our lives.

Begins Tues Oct 1st 1-2:30 p.m. every other week
