REFLECT

FIRST READING

Those closest to Jesus in his life gathered together in the immediate aftermath of his resurrection and ascension. What sort of mixed emotions do you think they experienced?

SECOND READING

Peter encourages those who suffer for the faith to “glorify God.” When have you experienced this type of redemptive suffering?

GOSPEL READING

At the conclusion of his farewell discourse, Jesus offers a prayer of petition to the Father for his disciples. How do you find Jesus’ words comforting?

FIRST READING

When he had said this, as they were looking on, he was lifted up, and a cloud took him from their sight. (Acts 1:9)

PSALM

God mounts his throne to shouts of joy: a blare of trumpets for the Lord. (Ps 47) or Alleluia.

SECOND READING

May the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give you a spirit of wisdom and revelation resulting in knowledge of him. (Eph 1:17-23)

GOSPEL

“Go, therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.” (Mt 28:19)

Fr. Tomasz's Weekly Reflection

Hope is the main theme of the liturgy of the Word on the solemnity of the Ascension of the Lord. And specifically, the hope of heaven. The first and most important warrant of this hope is Christ himself. After His resurrection, He appeared to the apostles many times. At the time of His ascension, the angels assured the disciples: This Jesus who has been taken up from you into heaven will return in the same way as you have seen him going into heaven.

Christian hope, as the psalmist points out, is always combined with joy, praise and worship. The focus of this hope is heaven – being, existing in the glory of the Trinity. When Jesus ascended to heaven, he took with himself our humanity, which He accepted in the womb of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the humanity that in the moment of the Incarnation has become His own. Thanks to this act, we can attach our hope of heaven to His humanity placed at the right hand of the Father. This hope becomes the manner of life for all of us. Hope that always moves, propels us, until the very last moment of our lives here on earth.

Every human being needs hope in order to gain access to God. A Christian, for whom the situation is never hopeless, is called to set out to the deep and, studying the face of Christ, constantly cross the threshold of hope. In the biblical sense, therefore, hope is a desire that leads us to happiness. Hope contains the courage to exist and to act, combined with the acceptance of risks, patient endurance of hardships and pain, not flinching even in the face of death. In the light of the Scripture, hope is realized in three steps: promise, trial and fulfillment.

On the one hand, it seems that hope is the most indispensable of virtues, because it is for us a strength in the midst of sufferings, difficult experiences and opposition. This hope is backed up by Jesus Christ, who loved to the end, which is expressed in the Eucharist. On the other hand, hope seems to be the most vulnerable of virtues, as it is threatened by the rejection of Jesus Christ and His saving work: indifference to the Risen Lord, denial of the Word of God, lack of prayer, nonexistence of sacramental life and living in the state of sin. Closing the doors of our lives for Jesus closes them also for heaven.

Hope of heaven, where none of us can enter on our own, results from receiving Jesus in our life, who leads us to the joy of His Father. It is not an escape from the world or its rejection, but this hope cannot be reduced to merely temporal activity. Instead, it allows us to go to those who are in need and encourages us to be among them the disciples of God's healing love. It can also stimulate us to give a testimony in our everyday life to God's immeasurable love, both through our words and actions. Hope allows us to do all those things, to endure hardships, to face challenges, to reach out to those suffering, because, although we are from this world, we have already been taken out of this world – hope of heaven has become a reality for us.

Spiritual Adoption

Your adopted child is 2 Months old:

I am making great progress. I have already developed all of my external features and internal organs. My brain started functioning after six weeks. With an ultrasonic stethoscope, you can hear my heartbeat. Baby -teeth buds were present at 6 1/2 weeks and I can suck my thumb and swallow. After the eighth week, I will continue to grow but everything I need to survive after birth is already present. Mom is probably just finding out about me. Pray, pray, pray. "All the days of his life have been planned out by God before any have come to be." Psalm 139:16

“Jesus, Mary and Joseph, I love you very much.
I beg you to spare the life of the unborn baby that I have spiritually adopted who is in danger of abortion.”

- Prayer of Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen

Please continue to pray for an unborn child and to pray daily for the child and for their parents and to offer a daily personal sacrifice. Your prayer can make a difference between whether a baby will be born... or aborted. Our prayers are a form of spiritual support for both of the parents. Please share the love of life given to you by the Lord of all life and join in spiritually adopting a baby.
