Fr. Tomasz's Weekly Reflection

Catholic Social Teaching

In today's Gospel, Jesus tells a parable that flips our expectations. A Pharisee and a tax collector go to the temple to pray. One stands tall, confident in his own righteousness, listing his good deeds. The other stands at a distance, eyes lowered, and simply pleads, "God, be merciful to me, a sinner." And Jesus says: it is the humble man who goes home justified. This moment is not just about personal humility, it's about how God sees us, and how we are called to see one another. It's about the kind of society we build when we let the Gospel shape our hearts.

God is not impressed by status or strength. He listens to the cry of the poor, the widow, the orphan, the one who has no advocate. This is the foundation of Catholic Social Teaching.

In his letter to Timothy, Paul reflects on his life: "I have fought the good fight... I have kept the faith." He speaks of being abandoned, yet upheld by the Lord. And Sirach reminds us that "the prayer of the lowly pierces the clouds." God is not impressed by status or strength. He listens to the cry of the poor, the widow, the orphan, the one who has no advocate. This is the foundation of Catholic Social Teaching. It's the Church's way of proclaiming that our faith must be lived in the world, not just in our hearts, but in our homes, our workplaces, our politics, and our communities.

It begins with the truth that every person is made in the image of God. That means every life is sacred, whether unborn or elderly, imprisoned or undocumented, rich or poor.

It begins with the truth that every person is made in the image of God. That means every life is sacred, whether unborn or elderly, imprisoned or undocumented, rich or poor. It means that our relationships matter, that families and communities are sacred spaces where we learn to love and serve. It means that work is not just a way to earn a living, but a way to participate in God's creation.

It means that we are responsible for one another. That we cannot ignore the suffering of our neighbors or the cries of the vulnerable.

It means that we are responsible for one another. That we cannot ignore the suffering of our neighbors or the cries of the vulnerable. That we must care for the earth, our common home, as stewards, not owners. That decisions should be made as close to the people affected as possible. That the good of each person is bound up in the good of all.

But none of this is possible without humility. Without the tax collector's prayer. Without the recognition that we, too, are poor in spirit, in need of mercy.

But none of this is possible without humility. Without the tax collector's prayer. Without the recognition that we, too, are poor in spirit, in need of mercy. So today, let us ask for that grace. To see as God sees. To hear what God hears. To live what we pray. And may our lives become the answer to someone's cry.

STEWARDSHIP CORNER

There is an interesting twist we find in today's gospel when we hear Jesus' parable of the Pharisee and the tax collector praying in the temple. The Pharisee is "praying to himself." It doesn't mean he was praying silently. It seems to mean something a lot more troubling, that he is praying to himself; that God is not his prayer's intended audience. The words of the Pharisee are very much centered on himself: he makes claims about his character. He highlights his own admirable activities. Good stewards of their prayer lives know that a prayer of praise and thanksgiving should focus on the goodness of God. Do your prayers of thanksgiving always stay focused on God's unfathomable, immeasurable goodness and generosity?

Spiritual Adoption

I am 7 months old.

We are in the home stretch! I now weigh about three pounds and I can use four of my senses--seeing, hearing, tasting, and touching. My eyelids can now open and close and I can look around and respond to light. I also have a grip that is strong enough to support my body weight with one hand.

PRAY FOR THE FAITHFUL DEPARTED

All Souls Novena envelopes are now available at the church entrances. Please return them by November 2nd.

Bring pictures of your beloved dead to place on the table in the church for the month of November. Please put your name and phone number on the back of the picture.

Why Should We Pray for the Dead?

We pray for the dead because the souls in purgatory cannot pray for themselves. They depend on us to pray and make sacrifices on their behalf to help them to reach heaven.

Medallions on the Ceiling

All of the medallions were recently restored during our church restoration project

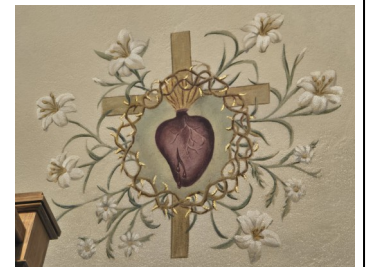

St Joseph
(The letters are painted with real gold.)

The Lamb of God: The lamb symbolizes Jesus' victorious sacrifice on Calvary as well as the Seven Sacraments.

Pelican: A legend says that a pelican mother will pierce her own breast and feed her young her blood. This image symbolizes Christ's sacrifice of shedding his blood for us on the Cross.

The Sacred Heart of Jesus surrounded by the crown of thorns

Blessed Virgin Mary
(The letters are painted with real gold.)

"Ergo Sum Alter Christus" means "I am another Christ." This medallion represents the priesthood.
